

DO

By Aron C. Mason
Editor in Chief

On a warm night in 1979, Dianna
D'Aiello, wife of former U.S.
Marine Kevin Lee Green, was he Mount Pleasant Baptist Church in Tigrett, Tennessee, burned to the ground on May 14, 1996. Investigators informed the pastor, the Reverend Paul Lusby, often dwell on the remote locations of some

Drunkenness, brawls, nudity and blatant-

During the Gulf War, Hamden served in the 101st Airborne Division as an artillery officer. For four days in late January 1991, the chemical and biological warfare (CBW) weapons alarms in his unit sounded continuously, according to Hamden. The sol-

Gulf War Illness:

Who is Covering it Up and Why

tance of the government's denials by news media:

- “The Army has concluded that ‘very high levels of stress’ — exacerbated by a fear of an Army cover-up — was the main reason why 125 will become responsible for providing the financial, medical, and special assistance that these ill veterans and their families require.

The Senate committee disclosed that the

was he ee

Although the Duke tests provide evidence that veterans' problems are not "in their heads," experts on Gulf War Illness have pointed out that media reports of this al public/media attention.

“b. All documents which seem to confirm the use or detection of nuclear, chemical, or biological agents.

“c. Documents which make gross/startling assertions, i.e., a pilot’s report that he saw a ‘giant cloud of anthrax² gas.’

“d. Documents containing releasable information which could embarrass [sic] the Government or DoD. Statements such as ‘we are not to bring this up to the press’ fit this category.

“e. Documents which shed light on issues which have high levels of media interest....”

This memorandum reflects continuous efforts to deny the truth about a devastating illness and replace it with disinformation to cloud the issue.

Drs. Garth and Nancy Nicolson of the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center are two authorities whose findings about Gulf War Illness have been reported by foreign media, but virtually drowned out in the United States. (See “The Bug that Bit the President,” below.) An electronic st protest. Sponsored by the Coalition to Stop Net Censorship, "Black Thursday" was supported by Yahoo, Netscape, the American Civil Liberties Union, the Electronic Frontier Foundation and many others.

President Clinton's signature was scarcely dry when the Electronic Privacy Information Center, in conjunction with the ACLU and 18 other organizations, initiated a constitutional challenge to the Communications Decency Act by filing a lawsuit in federal court in Philadelphia on February 8, request.) The 86 lives lost at Waco speak volumes of CAN's involvement.

So do the legion of criminal acts, charges and convictions surrounding CAN and its

T

International Conference on Human Detoxification documents one of the major discoveries of our times

By George Michelson

More including drug residues

Staying Clean in a toxic world

1. Short for polychlorinated biphenyls. Used to cool electrical equipment, these chemicals were banned in 1979 due to their high toxicity, persistence and cancer-causing properties.

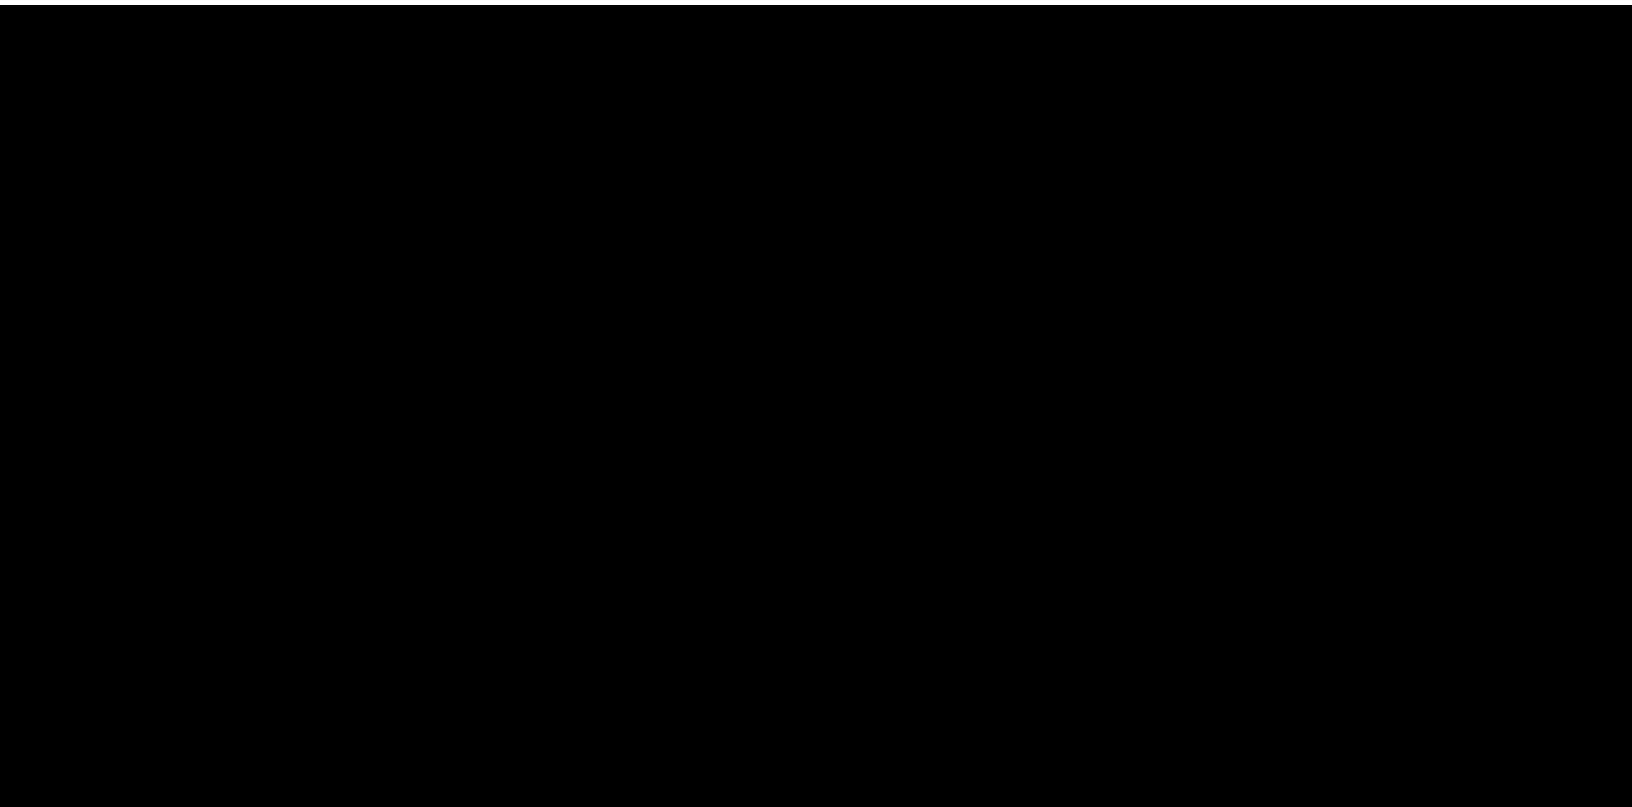

to toxic chemicals over a six-month period at her job as a maintenance worker at a large manufacturing facility. The woman suffered chloracne²

R iots are not always caused by economic depravation.
The bulk of American riots are caused by injustice.

Only the wealthy can afford justice. It may say there must be

In recent years, the Church of Scientology has published a series of publications to make itself known, provide information about its activities, and clear up any misconceptions about the Scientology religion.

One of these is the definitive reference work on Scientology:

What I'm 7z6RFum — 3704z6Fc — 3704z6lSCiDTum — blogy?4z604&6Im7v#vAFAv#-370rueU — 3704M--xarWbiuicSiAFAv6RFum — 37

The qualities you look for in people.
The qualities you look for in a magazine.

60 . . . u	$ 5.00
24 . . . u	$33. 5
12 . . . u	$22.50

